National Team prepares for Project!

March 13 - 29 are the dates for next adventure

For the national team members in Ghana, these are the most important days of their ministry — that is the days of intense preparation for the arrival of the Americans next month.

After nearly six months of prayerful anticipation for this next ministry project in Ghana national director, Rev. Dr. Samuel Lartey reports that all things are in place for he hopes to be a great evangelistic endeavor in his home country. “I am always eager for the arrival of our teams from the US” said Lartey, prove to be an indicator of what this adventure will be the team has a great deal in store for them.

Please pray for the team members — both the national and international. James McLean and Andy Poe will be joining Rev. Jeff Andler and Dr. Roy Mason for this project in Africa.

Dr. James McLean has fun with the little ones in Ghana

MY HEART...

We live in a crazy world. Watching, reading, or listening for the news from around the world cause even the casual observer to admit that evil is real. Our reactions to this realization are not always the best. Too often we react rather than respond, we operate from a position of fear rather than faith. There are certain things that we must be willing to admit and confess.

- ✓ We must acknowledge that there is a void of leadership in the world today. During this time of expanding evil there is no Winston Churchill, there is no Reagan. There is no one who stands tall and leads from a position of moral authority.
- ✓ As people of faith we must confess that we have failed to pray for those in authority as we should.
- ✓ We have failed to stand up for what is right and demand that those in authority do the same thing.

We are in the midst of a war against Evil.

“For our struggle is not against flesh and blood, but against the rulers, against the powers, against the world forces of this darkness, against the spiritual forces of wickedness in the heavenly places.”

—Ephesians 6:12 NASB

The bible reminds us that our battle is not really against other people, although other people in many cases are the embodiment of the Enemy. Those who would behead and burn to death innocents are the actual agents of Satan. We are in the midst of a war with Evil and until we are all willing to unite and call it evil, the war will continue to be lost.

Now is the time for all Christians to “Take up the full armor of God so that you will be able to resist in the evil day, and having done everything, to stand firm.” — Ephesians 6:13 NASB Now is the time for us to read, and live in Ephesians 6: 10ff

Never forget that the battle belongs to the Lord. Continually surrender unto Him. Constantly trust Him. Completely love Him. Now, until Jesus returns, I remain

Yours, in the fulfilling of the Great Commission,

G³

REMEMBER TO PRAY

For the upcoming project in Ghana. The months, weeks, and days of preparation are exhausting for all involved. The dear brothers in country have traveled countless miles making preparatory contacts with village chiefs, leaders, school officials and others gaining permission for our coming into their places. This has involved traveling down difficult roads to very remote locations all for the sake of the Gospel.

For the strength and safety of the team.

There is always a measure of concern for the physical, spiritual, and emotional strength of team members. Each day we encounter new and renewed challenges. Food and water are always a concern. Pray that God will continue to prove Himself faithful even in our moments of unbelief.

For the team's family members. One of the most difficult things both the national and international teams face is that of leaving our family members behind while we are on the project. Pray for God's protection, provision, and power to rest upon our families as we travel into another remote portion of the world.

For the Gospel to powerfully penetrate the darkness.

The only reason we travel into these places around the globe is to shine the light of Jesus Christ in a desperately dark world. Pray for thousand who have never heard the message of Christ.
